

Stick by Me

“Stick by Me,” which comes to KAAT this summer, was world premiered in Kent in southern England in 2017 before drawing great acclaim at the following year’s Edinburgh International Children’s Festival.

In this popular work set in a square room, a man appears to be bored until little friends start to come out from a box one after another, seeming to say: Are you ready? Then let’s have fun, run around, and play hide and seek.

So the man starts to play with these little friends, a table, chairs – and his rich imagination.

Though the sets are very simple, and the man doesn’t speak, the play never fails to captivate its young audiences and have them fill the theatre with laughter.
